

ENDOCRINOLOGY NURSE PRACTITIONER/ PHYSICIANS' ASSISTANT

Needed in Bermuda

A brand new endocrinology clinic in Bermuda is seeking an experienced Nurse Practitioner/Physicians' Assistant to provide outstanding outpatient care.

Fountain Health is a small, private-practice based in Hamilton, Bermuda, specialising in internal medicine, diabetes and endocrinology. The clinic has a particular interest in diabetic foot disease, diabetes and endocrine disease in pregnancy, pituitary disease and thyroid cancer. The focus at Fountain Health is a personal approach to lifestyle management for patients needing assistance with Diabetes, Osteoporosis and Thyroid care, with the aim to reduce the use of medications, thus cost of therapies and treatments.

The Nurse Practitioner/Physicians' Assistant will be the first point of contact for all patients at Fountain Health and will be responsible for assessing and triaging patients. Candidates should have excellent communication and clinical skills and prior experience working in endocrinology.

Working closely with the principal practitioner, you will be responsible for managing hyperglycaemia, hypoglycaemia, insulin dosing and blood-glucose levels in patients.

Candidates must have:

- Master of Science degree from an accredited Physician Assistant or Nursing Programme
- Certification in Basic Cardiac Life Support (BLS)
- Experience working in Diabetes & Endocrinology for a minimum of 5 years
- A firm understanding of medical software and electronic record keeping
- Familiarity with a wide variety of insulin delivery systems and glucose monitoring tools

The following skills are preferred but not essential:

- Diabetes Educator Certification
- Outpatient practice experience
- Lifestyle/weight management
